

GenCo at a Glance

Powering Growth While Protecting People and Small Businesses

As part of the NiSource family of companies, NIPSCO and GenCo work together to power growth and protect affordability. GenCo was created as a separate entity to build new generation for large-scale projects, helping NIPSCO meet rising energy demand while creating roughly $1 billion in cost savings for customers. This model supports economic growth, strengthens the grid, and keeps affordability front and center for everyday consumers.

How GenCo and NIPSCO Work Together

Why This Matters

- Protecting Customers
 Costs for new generation and transmission infrastructure are covered by high-volume users, not from NIPSCO's current residential and business customers.
- Delivering Measurable Savings
 Over the life of the current project, NIPSCO customers are expected to receive approximately $1 billion in cost-savings from GenCo's payments. The more GenCo sells, the greater the savings for customers.
- Building Reliability
 GenCo is adding 3GW of dispatchable power, expanding grid capacity and resilience to ensure safe, reliable service for Northern Indiana homes and businesses.
- Driving Economic Growth
 This project will create job opportunities for thousands of local Hoosiers, strengthen local supply chains, and attract more investment and tax dollars, making Northern Indiana a hub for innovation.